

AWA Auto Mall

Week 1 Progress Update

Reporting period	Overall status	Live site
Sep 15 – 21, 2026	Ahead of schedule	awaaautos.com

Good news — awaaautos.com is no longer just the "Coming Soon" page. The full car marketplace experience is live and browsable today, ahead of where Week 1 was planned to be. Here's what's already working, and what we're connecting behind the scenes next.

Live on the site now

- ✓ Full homepage, with search, category browsing (by brand, model, and vehicle type), and featured vehicles
- ✓ Vehicle detail pages for every listing, with specs, condition, and pricing
- ✓ Browse by Brand, Model, and Type pages (Toyota, Lexus, Mercedes-Benz, and more)
- ✓ Compare and Saved/Favorites so buyers can shortlist vehicles
- ✓ "Request a Vehicle" page for buyers looking for something specific
- ✓ News section, About Us, Why AWA, and Contact pages
- ✓ Multi-currency price display and one-tap WhatsApp inquiry on every vehicle
- ✓ Site is cars-only, as requested — spare parts have been fully removed from navigation and the homepage

Working behind the scenes

- The admin dashboard (for managing vehicles, orders, and inquiries) is built and ready — next step is connecting it to a live, secure database
- Vehicle listings shown today are representative samples; real AWA inventory goes live as soon as that database connection is complete
- The site is also built as an installable app (add to home screen, works like a native app) — that piece is in place and we're doing final checks on different phones this week before calling it fully confirmed

Coming up next week

- Connect the secure backend database so vehicles can be added, edited, and removed directly from the admin dashboard
- Replace sample listings with AWA's actual inventory
- Begin wiring up buyer inquiries so they land directly in the admin dashboard

As always, reach out any time with questions — we'll send the next update Friday.
